

ITALIAN REVOLUTION OR WAR WITH AUSTRIA

King Emanuel Calls a Conference of Chamber of Deputies Next Week

SERIOUS RIOTING CONTINUES IN ROME

Situation Getting More and More Out of Control of the Militia—Bitter Feeling Against the Neutralists Cu Imminates in Attacks Upon Members of That Party, in Which Life of One of Them is Endangered—Decision as to Peace or War Will Come Next Week.

(By United Press)

Rome, May 15.—King Emanuel today issued a decree in which he calls for a conference of the chamber of deputies next week. It is generally felt that this is the only way to head off a possible civil war and that leaders of the Interventionist and Neutralist parties advised the king to take that action.

Severe rioting continues today. The king said that the situation is rapidly getting more and more out of the control of the military authorities. As parliament meets on Thursday next it is probable that the chamber of deputies will be called to meet on Monday or Tuesday.

Rioters in Control
The rioters are in control in many sections of Rome, and also in other Italian cities and exclaiming, "Down with Germany!" "Down with the Kaiser!" "Down with Franz-Joseph!"

For the second time in 24 hours the chamber of deputies has been attacked, nine windows being broken. Crowds gathered in front of the royal palace and were with some difficulty driven back by the soldiers.

War Fever Spreads
The resignation of Salandra cabinet, which is regarded here as a triumph of the policy of Giovanni Giolitti, the ex-premier and leader of the Neutralist party, has given such an impetus to the war fever throughout the country that Italy now faces the gravest situation since the beginning of the European war. Open threats of revolution unless war is decided upon have been made in several important cities. Troops are on guard at all the strategic points in Rome, following pro-war demonstrations all through yesterday.

D'Annunzio Hailed Leader
A crowd which favored Italy's intervention went tonight to the hotel at which Gabriele d'Annunzio is stopping and cheered until the poet appeared on a balcony and spoke fervently in favor of war. From d'Annunzio's hotel the crowd went to the palace of Dowager Queen Margherita and acclaimed her wildly.

The cabinet met yesterday and immediately thereafter Premier Salandra visited the king. No information was given out concerning the meeting of the cabinet, sessions of which are now being held daily.

Former Leaders Are Mobbed
Popular indignation against Signor Giolitti and his friends is assuming alarming proportions. Ex-Ministers Bertolini and Facta who hold portfolios in the last Giolitti cabinet, which went out of office in March, 1914, as well as Deputies Valenzani and Graziani, were mobbed and beaten yesterday.

Signor Bertolini da bed out of the crowd and jumped aboard a street car. The mob stoned the car and smashed every window Bertolini was forced to leave the car and was again attacked by the crowd who spat in his face and pelted him with pennies, a hint that Bertolini and his friends were in the pay of the Germans.

Soldiers Easy With Mob
Three cavalry officers, seeing that Bertolini was in imminent danger of being lynched, drew their swords and rushed to his defense. They succeeded in getting the ex-minister into a store and a guard of soldiers was placed at the entrance.

Bucketshop Reports Are Unfounded

(By United Press)

Washington, May 15.—The department of justice announced today that the federal authorities are unable to stop the "bucket shop" reports from influencing the market by sending out statements that the president has been assassinated; that war has been declared by Italy; that General Wood has been called to New York to abandon the review of the naval parade.

It is believed that some of the stories originated in Pennsylvania.

SUGAR BOWL IS AGAIN READY TO BE OPENED

The Sugar Bowl will reopen to the public next week. Messrs. Barber & Timos, the proprietors, have transformed the establishment into a regular bower of beauty and added many conveniences and improvements. The room on Market street is fitted up after the manner of places of the kind in much larger towns, and the public is certain to be pleased with the new arrangements.

Messrs. Barber & Timos, besides having the Clearfield store, conduct confectionary stores in Towanda, Bradford, Waverly, and Mt. Jewett, and fully understand the business of providing sweets to their customers.

An electric piano will provide music for patrons and add to the up-to-dateness of the Sugar Bowl.

Germany Would Submit to Arbitration Court

(By United Press)

Berlin, via Amsterdam, May 15.—Germany is willing to submit her side of the Lusitania affair to arbitration, according to the Broschke Zeitung in today's issue. In high government circles in Germany it is favored that the submarine policy of the Lusitania and other differences with America be submitted to a court of arbitration.

It is expected that negotiations will be sent to Ambassador Bernstorff to notify the state department of the United States to that effect and that Germany will do something in this regard before proceeding with her submarine policy. The Broschke Zeitung is the organ of the Liberal party and is not regarded as the spokesman of the German government, which speaks through the North German Gazette.

Highway Department Hints For Good Roads Day

(Special to the Progress)

Harrisburg, May 15.—Every boy and girl has a clean-up day. Make the "State-wide Good Roads Day" Wednesday, May 26 a day of clean-up and commonwealth.

Wednesday, May 26 is a good day to select for your working day. There is more important duty than to amuse on that date. Don't forget it. A day's hard work on the highways means more than a day's play for the state.

HEAVY FROST VISITS

There have been several frosts the past few mornings, and thus far, we are glad to learn, there has been no damage to the crops or fruit. The most severe one occurred this morning but only in the very low places was there any serious result.

Run Down by Motor Truck

Robert, the 10-year-old son of C. C. Stromet, of Punxsutawney, was run down and probably fatally injured at 11:45 o'clock yesterday morning by the Elk Run Brewing company's truck. The boy is now in the Punxsutawney hospital and it is believed there that he cannot survive his injuries.

DR. REEVE EXHIBITS HIS COLLECTION OF RARE COINS

Dr. E. C. Reeve, yesterday afternoon, exhibited to the students of the high school his collection of ancient coins. The doctor's collection embraces Roman coins dating from the time of Caesar to the fall of the Roman empire and these are invaluable. Other coins of rare value are also in the possession of the minister.

Dr. Reeve's exhibit and his discourse of coins in general were highly appreciated by the students, especially his statements relative to how the Roman coins came into his possession.

EASY TO DISPROVE GERMAN REPORT

(By United Press)

London, May 15.—Cunard officials declare they have plenty of witnesses to disprove German claim that only one torpedo was shot and that the sinking of the ship Lusitania was caused by the explosion of her heavy cargo. Fifty survivors will testify 20 of whom are Americans.

More Bodies Recovered
Queensdown, May 15.—A handful of bereaved persons last night by candlelight at the Cunard pier endeavored to identify twenty-eight bodies of victims of the Lusitania disaster which were landed here after dark by a British torpedo boat and the tug Stormcock. Several of the bodies were identified, among them those of Commander J. Foster Stackhouse, the British explorer, and A. L. Hopkins, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding company.

The bodies of Alfred Gwynne Vandorht, Elbert Hubbard and other well known Americans who perished when the steamer was torpedoed were not among the twenty-eight.

A baby less than 3 months old was among the bodies brought in. Another body was that of a beautiful young woman, whose wedding ring showed that she had been married only two days before the Lusitania sailed. Letters found on her body indicated that her maiden name was Anna Hill and that she had resided at 18 Parnham avenue, Toronto.

H.S. STUDENTS HAVE A PLEASANT OUTING

The annual banquet given by the Junior class of C. H. S. to the Senior class was held yesterday evening at the Country Club. Both classes, numbering more than one hundred, left the school in the afternoon about 2 o'clock, going in wagons to the scene of the enjoyment. After arrival there and kind greetings had been exchanged the fun was on.

The committees having charge of the affair performed their duties in a most up to date fashion. The afternoon, to begin with, was filled with many interesting events, among which were a grand march around the golf links, led by the high school band; a baseball game and tennis games. At 6 o'clock all repaired to the club rooms, where a most delicious banquet was served.

The rooms were tastefully decorated in blue and white and red and white, the class colors of the seniors and juniors respectively.

A fire was built in the hearth around which boys and girls gathered to sing the dear old school songs, and then the dancing, which had not been neglected during this time, was resumed by everybody until the hour of 9. Music for the dancing was furnished by Miss Alice Smith and Harold Knight and was greatly enjoyed.

The happy party then returned home, voting the event one which they will not forget long after school days are over.

Transylvania Has Not Been Sunk

(By United Press)

New York, May 15.—Nothing has been heard from the Anchor line steamer Transylvania, believed to be in the war zone. There were many rumors circulated yesterday that the ship had been sunk as was the Lusitania, as a result of which the officers were kept busy nearly all day with inquiries from friends and relatives of passengers. The Cunard line, which is now operating the vessel, denied that it had heard any rumors of disaster to the ship and declared that such rumors were absurd, as it was not to be expected that word would be received until she reached port, which will not be until tonight or Sunday morning.

Great Success Won by French Troops

London, May 15.—For the first time in the past six months the German and French official announcements on the progress of hostilities find themselves in agreement. The German communication admits the truth of the more important of the claims made by Gen. Joffre as to the great successes won by the French between La Bassée and Arras.

If this attack can be pushed home, the consequences will be still more marked, in the opinion of British military commentators, who are claiming that a little further advance by the French will open a conspicuous gap in the German line, a development which will necessitate the falling back of the Germans on a wide front.

To the north of La Bassée the British are doing little more than holding their own, but at the same time they are keeping great masses of Germans engaged, troops who otherwise would be available against the French of fensive.

Drugs Attacks on Unarmed Ships
A circumstance that is making a very profound impression upon members of the administration, the significance of which is unmistakable, is that since the Lusitania was sunk, Germany has apparently suspended submarine attacks upon unarmed vessels. Two ships were sunk immediately following the sinking of the Lusitania, but their destruction was so nearly coincident with the larger tragedy, and had evidently been planned ahead, as was the destruction of the Lusitania, that they are regarded as having taken place virtually at the same time.

A Blow at United States
The seeming fact therefore that Germany planned and performed the destruction of the Lusitania, and then immediately suspended that revolting and barbarous method of warfare, almost forces the conclusion that the attack upon the great English liner with 200 helpless American passengers on board, was really a blow directed at the United States, and was struck for the purpose of finding out what the United States would do.

Three Americans Killed by Yaquis in Mexico
(By United Press)
Washington, May 15.—That three Americans were killed by the Yaquis in Mexico was reported at first by a message received by the navy department from the Pacific fleet. The dead are W. A. Fay, Jack Wilson and J. L. Donovan. The bodies were found in a river.

Washington, May 15.—The state department received at 10:10 this morning a message from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, stating that the letter had not received President Wilson's note at 7 p. m. Friday.

Inasmuch as the message dated at Rome at 3:45 yesterday afternoon, the delay is likely due to the congestion of the Italian telegraph lines.

What Will Germany Do?
That is the one question that holds the attention of the government. Germany alone can answer and Germany's answer may decide the grave issue that Germany has raised between that nation and the United States by the sinking of the Lusitania and the wanton murder of helpless citizens of the United States, men, women and children.

It is not expected, however that the reply will be of such definite character as will settle anything, and while it is greatly hoped that concessions to the United States will be indicated in Germany's first answer actual termination, peacefully or otherwise, of the diplomatic discussions can hardly be expected for weeks.

May Deny Responsibility
There is fear that Germany will attempt to evade all the issues just as has been done heretofore with an attempt both at justification and the shifting of responsibility upon the enemies of Germany.

Such a course by Germany would be perfectly consistent with all past performances. In such an event, there is no question that the United States will be compelled to adopt a firmer tone than the note of Thursday and more direct treatment of the grave questions under discussion.

Trapshooting alone will not make a

which I found myself when I arrived at the training camp of the "Terra-plus" at Fayetteville, N. C., was due in no small degree to my work at the Heidemann Gun Club traps during the winter.

Besides keeping a fellow physically fit, trapshooting has irresistible fascination as a game. This is proved by the hundreds of thousands who regularly shoot at the traps and the representation of every walk of life
amongst the shooters.

The exercise you get in clay-bird shooting is not violent, yet it is not exactly of the mollycoddle kind, for the handling of a shotgun throughout a 100-bird program, taking the mild pounding of a like repetition of recoil and the other activities of a half-day at the traps are just about enough for the average man.

Trapshooting is not a sport for any one sort of a true sportsman, for the game, like base ball, has its fins, and the best shooter that ever toed the mark is likely to blow up on occasion.

Of course trapshooting has an element of luck in it—but what game is worth while that has not a degree of uncertainty aside from the varying skill and form of the player? However, trapshooting—again comparing it with base ball—is essentially a game in which skill, experience and determination to win are the controlling factors providing the finx is on the job for the time being.

Lesson VII.—Second Quarter,
For May 16, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, 1 Sam. xxvii, 5-15.
Memory Verses, 11, 12—Golden Text,
Luke vii, 27—Commentary Prepared
by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The lesson today is a record of one of the occasions on which David had Saul completely at his mercy, but he refused to lay hands upon him or to listen to the suggestion of Abishai that David would permit him to smite Saul.
For he said, "As the Lord liveth, the Lord shall smite him, or his day shall come to die, or he shall descend into battle and perish" (verses 9, 10). Thus David left the matter wholly in the hands of the Lord, illustrating his own words, "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in Him, and He shall bring it to pass" (Ps. xxxvii, 5). 1 Sam.
xxvii tells how his end came.

On this occasion David took the spear
and the cruse of water from Saul's boiler that he might show him how he had him in his power, but did not harm him. David was able to do this without any one knowing it because a deep sleep from the Lord was fallen upon Saul and his men (verses 11, 12).
Compare Gen. ii, 21; xv, 12, and consider Peter's release from prison, though he was bound with chains between two soldiers, and there was a guard at the door of the prison (Acts xii, 6-10, 18, 19). Truly the God of Israel is the God that doest wonders (Ps. lxxii, 18; lxxvii, 14). David, with his trophies, stood on the top of a hill afar off and cried to Abner that, though he was a valiant man, he was worthy to die because he had failed to take care of the king, and he told him to look for the king's spear and cruse of water that had been by his bolster (verses 13-15).

Saul knew David's voice and professed to be very grateful to him for sparing his life, asking him to return to him, saying that he would be more see. To do him harm, but David knew his enemy too well, and after telling him to send for his spear, they again parted, each giving his own way (verses 17-20). This was not the first time that David had Saul in his power, but refused to harm him. See in chapter xxiv how he cut off the skirt
of Saul's robe and how Saul then professed penitence and good will and spoke of David's being king some day.
Thus Saul sought him every day, but God delivered him not into his hand (xxiii, 14). In the end of chapter xxiii there is the record of an incident that looked like a close call for David, but Saul was suddenly called off and David escaped. All through the story we can hear David saying: "The Lord is the strength of my life. Of whom shall I be afraid?" (Ps. xxvii, 1-3).

The cave of Adullam story in chapter xxiv is full of interest, beginning with his seeking a place of safety for his father and his mother till he could know what God would do for him and ending with his words of comfort to Abner: "Abide thou with me. Fear not, for he that seeketh my life seeketh thy life. But with me thou shalt be in safeguard." Chapter xxv tells of the death and burial of Samuel and then the story of drunken Nabal and his beautiful wife Abigail—beautiful in wise counsel to David and in her conduct toward him. Some of her memorable words are ever with me: "Bound in the bundle of life with the Lord thy God" (xxv, 29), a bundle which cannot be broken, for those to whom He gives eternal life can never perish (John x, 28). Chapters xxvii, xxix, xxx, tell the story of Ziklag, which Achish gave to David, but to which David returned on one occasion to find the town in ruins and the wives, sons and daughters of himself and his 600 followers all gone into captivity. That was one of the most trying times in all David's experience, and they all wept until they had no more power to weep. The grief of David, almost beyond endurance, was heaped up by the threat of his 600 followers to stone him, as if he was the cause of all this, so that David seemed, as far as human sympathy was concerned, to be absolutely alone.
Then we read the words which have helped so many, "David encouraged himself in the Lord his God" (xxx, 6).

A somewhat similar incident in the life of Paul is recorded in II Tim. iv, 16-18. The way that David found the cave, the Amalekites, through the guidance of an almost dead Egyptian servant, whom he restored to life, and how he recovered all—wives, sons, daughters, spoil, nothing lacking to any, and much additional spoil—is a very thrilling record and should encourage us all to wait on the Lord and not to think anything too hard for Him. There were 300 of David's men too weak to join in the pursuit of the enemy, but they, too, shared in the spoil of victory, and David made it a law that those who carry by the staff shall share equally with those who go forth to battle (xxx, 10, 24). Let all housekeepers be encouraged. The sin

The Verdict

—convincingly and overwhelmingly for Goodrich.

This company alone through the daily press of January 31st gave to the consuming public the most sweeping reduction ever made in tire prices. This established the only genuine Fair-List in existence on non-skid tires today.

Goodrich prices were dated February 1st in ordinary course. Other tires were reduced in prices a few days later and the reduction dated back to February 1st.

Every real price-reduction on tires has followed the lead of Goodrich.

As always, Goodrich policy and Goodrich methods first gave the tire user the benefit of reduced prices.

We lowered tire cost for every tire user when we did that.

And that verdict is overwhelmingly and convincingly in favor of Goodrich Tires and of Goodrich Fair-List prices.

user was buying mileage-service—he was buying what
the tires would do for him,
rather than so much bulk rubber and fabric.

We knew what our long years of rubber manufacture and tire-making had taught us.

We knew we were making tires which had exactly the right amount of rubber and the right quantity of fabric to deliver exactly the right kind of service.

We knew that too much rubber and too much fabric would be as detrimental to the service of the tires as too little.

The tire user knows that Goodrich led in putting tire prices on their just and proper level.

You pay money for your tires. You want miles from your tires.

Goodrich Tires are built to deliver mileage at the least cost per mile, and to deliver it with the greatest ease, the greatest comfort and the greatest economy.

Every ounce of energy,
every bit of intelligence, every flash of genius, every atom
of efficiency in the whole Goodrich organization has been concentrated on this proposition of making tires which will surely give the greatest mileage at the least cost.

The Goodrich tire user
knows that right now, today, with all the stampede to meet Goodrich prices, Goodrich quality is not met and that his dollar buys more tire
service in Goodrich tires.

"As good as Goodrich"
is today the plea.

Let us say to you, in all good faith and with every confidence in the fair-minded judgment of the tire user, that no other tire made has
in it and of it the experience, the know-how and the know-why which govern the selection and the combination of the exact quality and quantity of rubber and fabric which constitute Goodrich Tires.

PHILADELPHIA'S OFFICIAL SPORT

Heads of Public Safety and Police Departments Shoot.

POLICEMEN ARE GUN FANS

Director Porter and Superintendent Robinson Are Devotees of Inanimate Target Game—Both Make Records For Quality and Quantity of Shooting.

By Samuel Wesley Long.

Trapshooting is the "official sport" of the Quaker burg. Of course, not by a legislative act, but by the personal sanction of two of the most popular officials—the Pennsylvania metropolis has ever had.

These ardent devotees of the inanimate-target game are Director of Public Safety Porter and Superintendent of Police Robinson. And how they do shoot both in quantity and quality. The Belvidere Gun Club, at Craimer Hill, N. J., just across the Delaware river from Philadelphia, is the scene of exploits of these dangerous (to the targets) gunmen. Nothing short of a conflagration, a riot or an election would keep either Porter or Robinson away from the traps on a Saturday afternoon—a little thing like a blizzard is never noticed.

"Chief" Bender, of the Baltimore Colts, is also a member of the Belvidere Club, and until the Indian left for the training camp, there was a weekly shotgun battle, in which the pill finkler, the boss of the Philadelphia cops and the king pin of the Safety Department struggled for supremacy, with the Indian warrior usually fanning the Allies. But there came a day—an afternoon in March, with the mercury seeking the zero mark and a forty-mile gale sweeping across the river, making the targets dip, dive and sail skyward as the windy blast caught the shooters square in the face that the mighty Chieftain, like the far famed Casey, "struck out" and Porter, with his scalp still intact, carried away the handsome club cup. Bender had made twelve "errors" to Porter's eleven, and the trophy was won by a score of 89x100 to Bender's 88x100.

Walter Gilbert, who also is connected with the Police Department, is another of the Belvidere gunners, and every policeman and fireman in Philadelphia is a shooting fan. Why?

If you want to get in right with one of the six-foot-plus traffic cops that adorn the four sides of the City Hall, talk about the clay-bird records hung up by Porter and Robinson. Incidentally, you will discover a unanimous sentiment in favor of making Director of Public Safety and Superintendent of Police life officers.

PERSONAL TOUCH IN OUR BUSINESS LIFE IS WHAT COUNTS, SAYS MR. WOODS

One of the most enthusiastic trade boosters of the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh coming here the week of May 18 to 21 to pay our manufacturers, bankers and merchants a visit is Lawrence C. Woods, vice president and assistant manager of the Edward A. Woods Agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States and one of the guiding heads of the largest life insurance agency in the world. He says that he knows of no better way of studying conditions than by getting into close touch with the business men on tours of this character.

LAWRENCE C. WOODS.

ter. Furthermore he says that the community spirit is emphasizing itself more and more in every city and town. He takes the position that everything that helps western Pennsylvania helps this community. Mr. Woods, who is a keen observer of men also says that there is already material evidence of this trend, to show that times are improving fast. He believes in promoting civic pride and is always ready to assist in any good cause to help business. He feels confident that the present offers a most opportune time to help promote the prosperity of this district.

CURWENSVILLE

Edited by G. F. Kittleberger, Jr.

Although Curwensville was defeated in the first game at a earlier date, strong Clearfield team met defeat on the Curwensville diamond yesterday afternoon, the victory being attributed to the heavy hitting and good fielding of the Curwensville team. The dropping of Graham's third strike in the fourth by Robinson which resulted in the retirement of Heberling, who had just made a three base hit to third. Lantz's infallible work in center, Bailey's home run in the fourth, which resulted in four runs. D. Bailey's bare-handed catch in the seventh. Heberling's sitting on the home plate so McCloskey couldn't bat and Wolf's hit in the sixth made the game interesting, even though the score wasn't close. S. Robinson showed good form at short after the third inning. The score:

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs kidneys, then the back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need flushing occasionally. else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe head aches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver and stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidney active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive, ending bladder disorders.

If you are looking for a Law Mower we have just what you want, we carry a full line of Genuine, Philadelphia A-Day Overhauled, College and The New Mower, and be convinced by inspecting our goods.

ITALIAN REVOLUTION OR WAR WITH AUSTRIA

King Emanuel Calls a Conference of Chamber of Deputies Next Week

SERIOUS RIOTING CONTINUES IN ROME

Situation Getting More and More Out of Control of the Militia—Bitter Feeling Against the Neutralists Culminates in Attacks Upon Members of That Party, in Which Life of One of Them is Endangered—Decision as to Peace or War Will Come Next Week.

(By United Press)

Rome, May 15.—King Emanuel today issued a decree in which he calls for a conference of the chamber of deputies next week. It is generally felt that this is the only way to head off a possible civil war and that leaders of the Interventionist and Neutralist parties advised the king to take that action.

Severe rioting continues today. The king said that the situation is rapidly getting more and more out of the control of the military authorities. As parliament meets on Thursday next it is probable that the chamber of deputies will be called to meet on Monday or Tuesday.

Rioters in Control
The rioters are in control in many sections of Rome, and also in other Italian cities and exclaiming, "Down with Germany!" "Down with Franz-Joseph!"

For the second time in 24 hours the chamber of deputies has been attacked, nine windows being broken. Crowds gathered in front of the royal palace and were with some difficulty driven back by the soldiers.

War Fever Spreads
The resignation of Salandra cabinet, which is regarded here as a triumph of the policy of Giovanni Giolitti, the ex-premier and leader of the Neutralist party, has given such an impetus to the war fever throughout the country that Italy now faces the gravest situation since the beginning of the European war. Open threats of revolution unless war is decided upon have been made in several important cities. Troops are on guard at all the strategic points in Rome, following pro-war demonstrations all through yesterday.

D'Annunzio Hailed Leader
A crowd which favored Italy's intervention went tonight to the hotel at which Gabriele d'Annunzio is stopping and cheered until the poet appeared on a balcony and spoke fervently in favor of war. From d'Annunzio's hotel the crowd went to the palace of Dowager Queen Margherita and acclaimed her wildly.

The cabinet met yesterday and immediately thereafter Premier Salandra visited the king. No information was given out concerning the meeting of the cabinet, sessions of which are now being held daily.

Former Leaders Are Mobbed
Popular indignation against Signor Giolitti and his friends is assuming alarming proportions. Ex-Ministers Bertolini and Facta who hold portfolios in the last Giolitti cabinet, which went out of office in March, 1914, as well as Deputies Valenzani and Graziani, were mobbed and beaten yesterday.

Signor Bertolini had been out of the crowd and jumped aboard a street car. The mob stoned the car and smashed every window. Bertolini was forced to leave the car and was again attacked by the crowd who spat in his face and pelted him with pennies, a hint that Bertolini and his friends were in the pay of the Germans.

Soldiers Easy With Mob
Three cavalry officers, seeing that Bertolini was in imminent danger of being lynched, drew their swords and rushed to his defense. They succeeded in getting the ex-minister into a store and a guard of soldiers was placed at the entrance.

Highway Department Hints For Good Roads Day

Wednesday, May 26, is a good day to select for your wedding. There is more important day than that. Don't forget it when "State-wide Good Roads Day" comes. A day's hard work on the highways means more than a dozen boys for the state.

DR. REEVE EXHIBITS HIS COLLECTION OF RARE COINS

Dr. E. C. Reeve, yesterday afternoon, exhibited to the students of the high school his collection of ancient coins. The doctor's collection embraces Roman coins dating from the time of Caesar to the fall of the Roman empire and these are invaluable. Other coins of rare value are also in the possession of the minister.

Dr. Reeve's exhibit and his discourse of coins in general were highly appreciated by the students, especially his statements relative to how the Roman coins came into his possession.

EASY TO DISPROVE GERMAN REPORT

(By United Press)

London, May 15.—Cunard officials declare they have plenty of witnesses to disprove German claim that only one torpedo was shot and that the sinking of the ship Lusitania was caused by the explosion of her heavy cargo. Fifty survivors will testify 20 of whom are Americans.

More Bodies Recovered

Queensdown, May 15.—A handful of bereaved persons last night by candlelight at the Cunard pier endeavored to identify twenty-eight bodies of victims of the Lusitania disaster which were landed here after dark by a British torpedo boat and the tug Stormcock. Several of the bodies were identified, among them those of Commander J. Foster Stackhouse, the British explorer, and A. L. Hopkins, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding company.

The bodies of Alfred Gwynne Vandorht, Elbert Hubbard and other well known Americans who perished when the steamer was torpedoed were not among the twenty-eight.

A baby less than 3 months old was among the bodies brought in. Another body was that of a beautiful young woman, whose wedding ring showed that she had been married only two days before the Lusitania sailed. Letters found on her body indicated that her maiden name was Anna Hill and that she had resided at 18 Parnham avenue, Toronto.

H.S. STUDENTS HAVE A PLEASANT OUTING

The annual banquet given by the Junior class of C. H. S. to the Senior class was held yesterday evening at the Country Club. Both classes, numbering more than one hundred, left the school in the afternoon about 2 o'clock, going in wagons to the scene of the enjoyment. After arrival there and kind greetings had been exchanged the fun was on.

The committees having charge of the affair performed their duties in a most up to date fashion. The afternoon, to begin with, was filled with many interesting events, among which were a grand march around the golf links, led by the high school band; a baseball game and tennis games. At 6 o'clock all repaired to the club rooms, where a most delicious banquet was served. The rooms were tastefully decorated in blue and white and red and white, the class colors of the seniors and juniors respectively.

A fire was built in the hearth around which boys and girls gathered to sing the dear old school songs, and then the dancing, which had not been neglected during this time, was resumed by everybody until the hour of 9. Music for the dancing was furnished by Miss Alice Smith and Harold Knight and was greatly enjoyed.

The happy party then returned home, voting the event one which they will not forget long after school days are over.

Transylvania Has Not Been Sunk

(By United Press)

New York, May 15.—Nothing has been heard from the Anchor line steamer Transylvania, believed to be in the war zone. There were many rumors circulated yesterday that the ship had been sunk as was the Lusitania, as a result of which the officers were kept busy nearly all day with inquiries from friends and relatives of passengers. The Cunard line, which is now operating the vessel, denied that it had heard any rumors of disaster to the ship and declared that such rumors were absurd, as it was not to be expected that word would be received until she reached port, which will not be until tonight or Sunday morning.

Great Success Won by French Troops

London, May 15.—For the first time in the past six months the German and French official announcements on the progress of hostilities find themselves in agreement. The German communication admits the truth of the more important of the claims made by Gen. Joffre as to the great successes won by the French between La Bassée and Arras.

If this attack can be pushed home, the consequences will be still more marked, in the opinion of British military commentators, who are claiming that a little further advance by the French will open a conspicuous gap in the German line, a development which will necessitate the falling back of the Germans on a wide front.

To the north of La Bassée the British are doing little more than holding their own, but at the same time they are keeping great masses of Germans engaged, troops who otherwise would be available against the French of fensive.

Washington, May 15.—The state department received at 10:10 this morning a message from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, stating that the letter had not received President Wilson's note at 7 p. m. Friday.

Inasmuch as the message dated at Rome at 3:45 yesterday afternoon, the delay is likely due to the congestion of the Italian telegraph lines.

What Will Germany Do? That is the one question that holds the attention of the government. Germany alone can answer and Germany's answer may decide the grave issue that Germany has raised between that nation and the United States by the sinking of the Lusitania and the wanton murder of helpless citizens of the United States, men, women and children.

It is not expected, however that the reply will be of such definite character as will settle anything, and while it is greatly hoped that concessions to the United States will be indicated in Germany's first answer actual termination, peacefully or otherwise, of the diplomatic discussions can hardly be expected for weeks.

May Deny Responsibility
There is fear that Germany will attempt to evade all the issues just as has been done heretofore with an attempt both at justification and the shifting of responsibility upon the enemies of Germany.

Such a course by Germany would be perfectly consistent with all past performances. In such an event, there is no question that the United States will be compelled to adopt a firmer tone than the note of Thursday and more direct treatment of the grave questions under discussion.

Drugs Attacks on Unarmed Ships
A circumstance that is making a very profound impression upon members of the administration, the significance of which is unmistakable, is that since the Lusitania was sunk, Germany has apparently suspended submarine attacks upon unarmed vessels. Two ships were sunk immediately following the sinking of the Lusitania, but their destruction was so nearly coincident with the larger tragedy, and had evidently been planned ahead, as was the destruction of the Lusitania, that they are regarded as having taken place virtually at the same time.

A Blow at United States
The seeming fact therefore that Germany planned and performed the destruction of the Lusitania, and then immediately suspended that revolting and barbarous method of warfare, almost forces the conclusion that the attack upon the great English liner with 200 helpless American passengers on board, was really a blow directed at the United States, and was struck for the purpose of finding out what the United States would do.

"The Vampire"

This sensational play, one of the most successful of the century, and for many years the starring vehicle of Robert Hilliard, has been converted into a supremely vivid and startling photo-play by the William Fox forces.

Edward Jose, former leading man with Sarah Bernhardt, portrays in a masterly manner the "Fool" who forsakes family and friends for a soulless sensual creating in the guise of a beautiful woman.

Theda Bara, leading woman at the Theatre Antoine, Paris, has been cast as the "Vampire," one of the most fascinating, though revolting female characters ever created. At the opera house Monday night.

By "Chief" Bender.

Trapshooting alone will not make a pitcher, but the quick calculation of the angle of flight of the target, its elevation, and the effect of wind in deflecting not only the target, but also the charge of shot, are not without value to a mountman.

The splendid physical condition is

which I found myself when I arrived at the training camp of the "Terrapins" at Fayetteville, N. C., was due in no small degree to my work at the Heidemann Gun Club traps during the winter.

Besides keeping a fellow physically fit, trapshooting has irresistible fascination as a game. This is proved by the hundreds of thousands who regularly shoot at the traps and the representation of every walk of life amongst the shooters.

The exercise you get in clay-bird shooting is not violent, yet it is not exactly of the mollycoddle kind, for the handling of a shotgun throughout a 100-bird program, taking the mild pounding of a like repetition of recoil and the other activities of a half-day at the traps are just about enough for the average man.

Trapshooting is not a sport for any one sort of a true sportsman, for the game, like base ball, has its fins, and the best shooter that ever toed the mark is likely to blow up on occasion.

Of course trapshooting has an element of luck in it—but what game is worth while that has not a degree of uncertainty aside from the varying skill and form of the player? However, trapshooting—again comparing it with base ball—is essentially a game in which skill, experience and determination to win are the controlling factors providing the finx is on the job for the time being.

Lesson VII.—Second Quarter,
For May 16, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, 1 Sam. xxvii, 5-16.
Memory Verses, 11, 12—Golden Text,
Luke vii, 27—Commentary Prepared
by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The lesson today is a record of one of the occasions on which David had Saul completely at his mercy, but he refused to lay hands upon him or to listen to the suggestion of Abishai that David would permit him to smite Saul, for he said, "As the Lord liveth, the Lord shall smite him, or his day shall come to die, or he shall descend into battle and perish" (verses 9, 10). Thus David left the matter wholly in the hands of the Lord, illustrating his own words, "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in Him, and He shall bring it to pass" (Ps. xxxvii, 5). 1 Sam. xxxi tells how his end came.

On this occasion David took the spear and the cruse of water from Saul's bolster that he might show him how he had him in his power, but did not harm him. David was able to do this without any one knowing it because a deep sleep from the Lord was fallen upon Saul and his men (verses 11, 12). Compare Gen. ii, 21; xv, 12, and consider Peter's release from prison, though he was bound with chains between two soldiers, and there was a guard at the door of the prison (Acts xii, 6-10, 18, 19). Truly the God of Israel is the God that doest wonders (Ps. lxxii, 18; lxxvii, 14). David, with his trophies, stood on the top of a hill afar off and cried to Abner that though he was a valiant man, he was worthy to die because he had failed to take care of the king, and he told him to look for the king's spear and cruse of water that had been by his bolster (verses 13-16).

Saul knew David's voice and professed to be very grateful to him for sparing his life, asking him to return to him, saying that he would no more see him, but David knew his enemy too well, and after telling him to send for his spear, they again parted, each giving his own way (verses 17-30). This was not the first time that David had Saul in his power, but refused to harm him. See in chapter xxiv how he cut off the skirt of Saul's robe and how Saul then professed penitence and good will and spoke of David's being king some day. Thus Saul sought him every day, but God delivered him not into his hand (xxiii, 14). In the end of chapter xxiii there is the record of an incident that looked like a close call for David, but Saul was suddenly called off and David escaped. All through the story we can hear David saying: "The Lord is the strength of my life. Of whom shall I be afraid?" (Ps. xxvii, 1-3).

The cave of Adullam story in chapter xxiv is full of interest, beginning with his seeking a place of safety for his father and his mother till he could know what God would do for him and ending with his words of comfort to Abner: "Abide thou with me. Fear not, for he that seeketh my life seeketh thy life. But with me thou shalt be in safeguard." Chapter xxv tells of the death and burial of Samuel and then the story of drunken Nabal and his beautiful wife Abigail—beautiful in wise counsel to David and in her conduct toward him. Some of her memorable words are ever with me: "Bound in the bundle of life with the Lord thy God" (xxv, 29), a bundle which cannot be broken, for those to whom He gives eternal life can never perish (John x, 28). Chapters xxvii, xxix, xxx, tell the story of Ziklag, which Achish gave to David, but to which David returned on one occasion to find the town in ruins and the wives, sons and daughters of himself and his 600 followers all gone into captivity. That was one of the most trying times in all David's experience, and they all wept until they had no more power to weep. The grief of David, almost beyond endurance, was heaped up by the threat of his 600 followers to stone him, as if he was the cause of all this, so that David seemed, as far as human sympathy was concerned, to be absolutely alone. Then we read the words which have helped so many, "David encouraged himself in the Lord his God" (xxx, 6).

A somewhat similar incident in the life of Paul is recorded in II Tim. iv, 16-18. The way that David found the enemy, the Amalekites, through the guidance of an almost dead Egyptian servant, whom he restored to life, and how he recovered all—wives, sons, daughters, spoil, nothing lacking to any, and much additional spoil—is a very thrilling record and should encourage us all to wait on the Lord and not to think anything too hard for Him. There were 300 of David's men too weak to join in the pursuit of the enemy, but they, too, shared in the spoils of victory, and David made it a law that those who carry by the staff shall share equally with those who go forth to battle (xxx, 10, 24). Let all housekeepers be encouraged. The sin of Saul in the matter of familiar spirits and the witch of Endor is recorded in chapter xxviii. This is a prevailing sin of many today. It is wholly of the devil and is strictly forbidden in Deut. xviii, 9-12. It is not all trickery, but oftentimes some real work of the adversary. The living, those who are truly saved, should seek only the living God and His life giving word. All else is from the devil, and it will be a night of awful darkness forever for all who turn away from the Word of God. "No mourning for them" (Isa. viii, 19, 20; margin and R. V.).

The Verdict

—convincingly and overwhelmingly for Goodrich.

This company alone through the daily press of January 31st gave to the consuming public the most sweeping reduction ever made in tire prices. This established the only genuine Fair-List in existence on non-skid tires today.

Goodrich prices were dated February 1st in ordinary course. Other tires were reduced in prices a few days later and the reduction dated back to February 1st.

Every real price-reduction on tires has followed the lead of Goodrich.

As always, Goodrich policy and Goodrich methods first gave the tire user the benefit of reduced prices.

We lowered tire cost for every tire user when we did that.

We were more than content to await the verdict.

And that verdict is overwhelmingly and convincingly in favor of Goodrich Tires and of Goodrich Fair-List prices.

We knew that the tire user was buying mileage-service—he was buying what the tires would do for him, rather than so much bulk rubber and fabric.

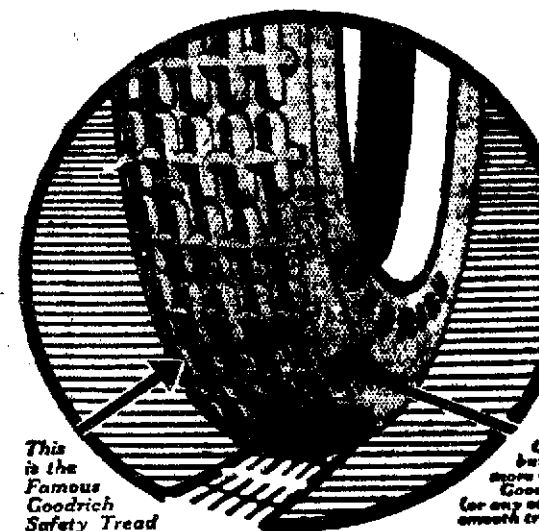

We knew what our long years of rubber manufacture and tire-making had taught us.

We knew we were making tires which had exactly the right amount of rubber and the right quantity of fabric to deliver exactly the right kind of service.

We knew that too much rubber and too much fabric would be as detrimental to the service of the tires as too little.

The tire user knows that Goodrich led in putting tire prices on their just and proper level.

Only 5% PLUS for the Best Non-Skid

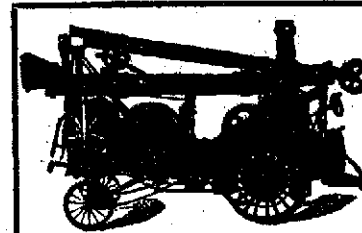

Note the following table of comparative prices on non-skid tires. Columns headed "A," "B," "C," and "D" represent four highly advertised tires and be sure to note Goodrich Safety Treads cost from 5% to 45% less than others shown below.

PHILADELPHIA'S OFFICIAL SPORT

Heads of Public Safety and Police Departments Shoot.

POLICEMEN ARE GUN FANS

Director Porter and Superintendent Robinson Are Devotees of Inanimate Target Game—Both Make Records For Quality and Quantity of Shooting.

By Samuel Wesley Long.
Trapshooting is the "official sport" of the Quaker burg. Of course, not by a legislative act, but by the personal sanction of two of the most popular officials the Pennsylvania metropolis has ever had.

These ardent devotees of the inanimate-target game are Director of Public Safety Porter and Superintendent of Police Robinson. And how they do shoot! both in quantity and quality.

The Belvidere Gun Club, at Craner Hill, N. J., just across the Delaware river from Philadelphia, is the scene of exploits of these dangerous to the targets gunmen. Nothing short of a conflagration, a riot or an election would keep either Porter or Robinson away from the traps on a Saturday afternoon—a little thing like a blizzard is never noticed.

"Chief" Bender, of the Baltimore Colts, is also a member of the Belvidere Club, and until the Indian left for the training camp, there was a weekly shotgun battle, in which the pill finkler, the boss of the Philadelphia cops and the king pin of the Safety Department struggled for supremacy, with the Indian warrior usually fanning the Allies. But there came a day—an afternoon in March, with the mercury seeking the zero mark and a forty-mile gale sweeping across the river, making the targets dip, dive and sail skyward as the windy blast caught the shooters square in the face that the mighty Chieftain, like the far-famed Casey, "struck out" and Porter, with his scalp still intact, carried away the handsome club cup. Bender had made twelve "errors" to Porter's eleven, and the trophy was won by a score of 89x100 to Bender's 88x100.

Walter Gilbert, who also is connected with the Police Department, is another of the Belvidere gunners, and every policeman and fireman in Philadelphia is a shooting fan. Why?

If you want to get in right with one of the six-foot-plus traffic cops that adorn the four sides of the City Hall, talk about the clay-bird records hung up by Porter and Robinson. Incidentally, you will discover a unanimous sentiment in favor of making Director of Public Safety and Superintendent of Police life officers.

PERSONAL TOUCH IN OUR BUSINESS LIFE IS WHAT COUNTS, SAYS MR. WOODS

One of the most enthusiastic trade boosters of the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh coming here the week of May 18 to 21 to pay our manufacturers, bankers and merchants a visit is Lawrence C. Woods, vice president and assistant manager of the Edward A. Woods Agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States and one of the guiding heads of the largest life insurance agency in the world. He says that he knows of no better way of studying conditions than by getting into close touch with the business men on tours of this character.

LAWRENCE C. WOODS.

ter. Furthermore he says that the community spirit is emphasizing itself more and more in every city and town. He takes the position that everything that helps western Pennsylvania helps this community.
Mr. Woods, who is a keen observer of men, also says that there is already material evidence all about us tending to show that times are improving fast. He believes in promoting civic pride and is always ready to assist in any good cause to help business. He feels confident that the present offers a most opportune time to help promote the prosperity of this district.

CURWENSVILLE

Edited by G. F. Kittleberger, Jr.

Although Curwensville was defeated in the first game at Clearfield, the strong Clearfield team met defeat on the Curwensville diamond yesterday afternoon, the victory being attributed to the heavy hitting and good fielding of the Curwensville team. The dropping of Graham's third strike in the fourth by Robinson, which resulted in the retirement of Heberling, who had just made a three base hit to third, Lantz's infallible work in center, Bailey's home run in the fourth, which resulted in four runs, D. Bailey's bare-handed catch in the seventh, Heberling's sitting on the home plate so McCloskey couldn't bat, and Wolf's hit in the sixth made the game interesting, even though the score wasn't close. S. Robinson showed good form at short after the third inning. The score:

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs kidneys, then the back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe head aches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver and stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidney active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; ending bladder disorders.

If you are looking for a Law Mower we have just what you will want, we carry a full line of Genuine, Philadelphia, All-Day, Overbrook, College and The New Mower, and will be convinced by inspecting our goods.

Six Reels

This is Robert Hillard's Greatest Success Based on Kipling's Poem "The Vampire"

A fool there was and he made his prayer
(Even as you and I)
To a rag and a bone and a hank of hair
(We called her the woman who did not care)
But the fool he called her his lady fair
(Even as you and I)

Oh, the years we waste and the tears we waste
And the work of our head and hand,
Belong to the woman who did not know
(And now we know she never could know)
And did not understand.
